

Association Connecting Electronics Industries

IPC Conference on HDI

STRATEGIES FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

March 1–2, 2011 · Baltimore, Maryland USA

At the National Electronics Museum

This important event will explore solutions to major technical challenges. Presentations will address HDI in every market sector: military/aerospace, automotive, telecom and consumer electronics.

- Field Studies, case studies, real-world examples and applications
- Material perspectives
- Assembly issues
- Fabrication technologies
- Testing and failure analysis

Agenda will be available online by December 20, 2010.

For complete event information, check www.ipc.org/Events

MARCH 1, 2011

Workshops

Two three-hour in-depth sessions, each led by one Instructor.

Reception

Networking for all event participants

Sponsored by Northrop Grumman Corporation

March 2, 2011

Technical Conference

Full day of presentations on a range of topics, presented by a variety of subject matter experts

Tabletop exhibits

Networking luncheon for all participants is included.

REGISTRATION

Each workshop: $200 for IPC members/$300 standard

Technical Conference March 2: $500 for IPC members/$600 standard

Total event Package: $750 for IPC members/$950 standard

TRAVEL

Event participants are responsible for making their own travel arrangements to the National Electronics Museum.

www.nationalelectronicsmuseum.org

Via air: fly into BWI

Hotel: rooms will be reserved at a hotel nearby at a discounted rate.

Questions about the event?

Contact IPC Manager of Professional Development
at AnneMarieMulvihill@ipc.org or +1 847-597-2827.